

The room, which housed the deliberate act...

STUDY: Had a tense exchange about a simple fact

BALLROOM: Had a velvet draped and rival attacked

CONSERVATORY: Had verdant hue the others lacked

KITCHEN: Had motive tossed and bovine whacked

BILLIARD ROOM: Had threats and ultimatums racked

LOUNGE: Had libations mixed and strategies lacked

...The suspects now learn that the detective is quite effective and far more clever than any of them every thought she could be

The weapon responsible for killing me...

REVOLVER: The world's fastest feet might never flee

KNIFE: Traverses its intended cunningly

PIPE: Has no smoke, but is indeed deadly

CANDLE: With ornate design commits treachery

ROPE: Secures a victim sinuously

WRENCH: Can turn a crime most brilliantly

Now, to the Library

The suspect you should scrutinize...

PEACOCK: Has deliberate moves and altered eyes

PLUM: Has insightful moves and curious eyes

SCARLETT: Has brazen moves and dazzling eyes

MUSTARD: Has playful moves and attractive eyes

WHITE: Has awkward moves and busy eyes

GREEN: Has cunning moves and scheming eyes
